

Steve and Dan show off their winter catch

RIO VIST A FERR Y & other news:

* In 2007, Caltrans reported that plans for a new ferry went out to bid. The latest we hear, a new ferry will be up and running sometime in 2009 and it will be longer and will accommodate "legal loads" more easily. We still encourage anyone with a large RV to use the bridge onto Ryer Island!

* For a few days in March 2008, the resort will be a backdrop or "open air stage" for filming of a short comedy titled "Has Been". The Independent film will be shown at film festivals all over the US, we're told. Much of the filming at Snug Harbor will take place in and around a few tents and a campfire.

Http://www.extraordinaryfilmproject.com/has\_been.htm

* Now that we have the RV sites and Snuggle Inn locations set, we can accept reservations for 2008 summer season. Please plan ahead and use the online reservation system - reservations are required!

* We're proud to announce the resort was named "Best for Fishing" AND "Best for Waterskiing" in the California Camping Guide by Tom Steinstra published Fall, 2007.

Where's the Golden Gate Dredge?!

It's amazing to us how many people stop in to ask where "that old barge" went. It was dismantled in 2001 due to the poor condition it was in, but we managed to save the wonderful railings, which are now on display in the park.

Railings have tools from the last 100 years of delta trades soldered on, an authentic example of California Workmen's Art! We can't identify the uses of some of the tools-can you? Guess the tool at Http://snugharbor.net

Soldered to the Golden Gate Railings: Anchor, turnbuckle, bear trap, small boat prop, skeleton key, various cleats, wrenches, chain, corkscrew drillbits, key holder, sailboat hardware, snap close,...this is just one of 5 large sections found around the park!